Sahyogi was started in 2008 by a group of young professionals and social activists as a non-governmental, not-for-profit organization committed towards bringing a change in the life of the weaker section. Our primary aim is to ensure rights and equality along with justice for all especially women and children in every aspects of their life. We work to empower women and children against any form of discrimination and exclusion.

Vision

To establish an egalitarian society, where, citizens enjoy human rights without discrimination and live a dignified life in mutual cooperation.

Mission :

To promote gender equality and justice by empowering women and children from the marginalized community.

Our Objectives

- ▶ To promote gender equity and amplify the voices of women and children.
- ▶ To provide support and access for initiating, establishing, consolidating institutions, processes and programs aimed at development and improvement of living standards of its target group.
- ▶ To enable and empower the most marginalized community through organizing them as self-defining groups with a strong sense of self-identity and with capacities to act as a pressure group
- ▶ To create models of community participation and action so as to sensitize the govt. for formulation of programs and policies aimed at improving the living standard of the target group

We work with

- Women
- Single women
- DV/GBV survivors
- Adolescent and youth
- Children
- Excluded community/groups
- PRI Representatives
- Local governing bodies

Our Activities

Ab Aur Nahi “Hinsa” (AAN)

AAN is an initiative of Sahyogi which addresses the issue of Gender based Violence with a strong focus on Domestic Violence in villages and slums in Bihar. The programme is aimed at contributing towards reduced prevalence of violence against women/girls. Under the AAN initiative Sahyogi educates women, adolescent and youth to identify GBV/DV and respond; creates a cadre base in community on GBV/DV, provide counseling and legal aid support to the survivor and link them with existing govt. services for justice.

School Intervention

Sahyogi is working with students and teachers in schools and colleges on EAW (End Violence against Women). The main objective is to transform adolescent and youth as agents of change, who will respond to violence against women and girls within their family and society. The focus of the programme is to capacitate adolescents and youth in recognizing VAW, responding to them and to link them with service delivery points like Mahila Thana, Police Station, Women Helpline, Sahyogi and other agencies working on the issue. This programme also helps in providing a platform for dialogue with development workers and women rights activists in changing the stereotypes.

School Chalo Abhiyan

Sahyogi runs a massive campaign on Right to Education and to get out of school children enrolled focused on children from Dalit, Backward and Minority community. We get the local stakeholders like PRI representatives, teachers, AWW, parent and community leaders involved in the process. Our main objective is to work towards reinforcing the belief that education will lead to a better life.

Sanitation and Menstrual Hygiene

Sahyogi undertakes regular session on WASH with the community and children. The objective of these sessions is to bring awareness on WASH issues and thus reinforcing healthy behaviours. We organize cleanliness drive in community. Since Sahyogi works primarily with women so we facilitate menstrual hygiene session with women and adolescents. We also promote the use of sanitary pad though we do not promote any specific brand.

Save Water Campaign

Sahyogi has taken an initiative to bring awareness within the community to save water and also to optimize its best use through its “Jal Suraksha” programme. Through wall painting, folk shows and nukkad meeting we spread the message of saving water and its reuse. This initiative is focused on behavioural change among people to conserve water.

Capacity Building Cell

Sahyogi has a group of trainers and have been developing a capacity building cell. The members of the capacity building cell have wide range of experience in the development sector on conducting training programme for different agencies. It provides trainer/complete training package to different agencies on request for capacity building to their staffs and community members.

Vocational Training

Sahyogi has been engaged in facilitating vocational training for Women’s Groups in Bihar and Jharkhand. We have done ToT of our community volunteers; who has turned as trainer and now facilitate training for our own initiative, HDFC Bank and other agencies. Our trainers facilitates training in different trades like Garment designing, Mixture Making, Sari Designing, Bindi Designing, Artificial flower making, Artificial Jewelry Making, Papad Making, Jadi work, Chiken work etc.
